What the War Moves Mean

By J. W. T. MAMON
(Staff Correspondent United Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Russia is on the verge of the most momentous reform in her history. Repeated defeats of the Russian arms are discrediting the bureaucrats who have guided Russia's destiny since the war began.

The czar, temperamentally and instinctively dramatic, may soon add to his vodka prohibition more important political and social reforms.

Reformers in the duma are united, and menacing. Although the progressives are in the majority, the reactionaries are making determined efforts to dissolve the duma. Professor Malukoff, leader of the progressives, has given assurance that if the Duma is dissolved, it will meet again within a few weeks.

The results of these threats, if they are carried out, are obvious. If the duma is dissolved, the czar may have to put down a revolution as well as fight the Teutons. Germany has long hoped that a revolution would compel the czar to conclude a desperate and disastrous peace.

A revolution is at hand. The czar apparently senses the danger, but has not retired at its approach. Instead, he has assumed open and personal responsibility for the army. This may mean that he will grant reforms. Then Russia would rise from her defeats and become powerful.

IN PRESENT TROUBLE

United Press Service
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The Spirits of the soldiers killed in the Napoleonic wars 100 years ago influenced Europe's leaders to start this war, Dr. B. F. Austin of Los Angeles asserted at the National Spiritualists' congress here.

Dr. Austin said they wanted war-like company, and were tired of being joined by spirits of people who had died natural deaths in a peaceful frame of mind.

Dr. J. M. Peebles said he owed 95 years of life to the interest an Egyptian prince in the spirit world showed in him. This prince, said Dr. Peebles, wouldn't reveal his identity. The Apostle John had also been a guardian spirit, he said.

Mrs. G. W. Gates, granddaughter of a Presbyterian divine, and a noted medium of Washington, D. C., intimated that she had received a tip from the spirit world that the war would last another year.

Dr. L. Coleman of Pasadena announced that Abraham Lincoln freed the slaves on the advice of a little girl of the spirit world, who appeared to him in his study at the White House the night before he signed the emancipation proclamation.

Teachers Return to Civilization

United Press Service
SANTA MONICA, Sept. 13.—Janet Kirkwood and Eleanor Burch, Baltimore school teachers, have abandoned the cabin they built in the Santa Monica Mountains and returned to civilization after having spent two months roughing it like pioneers. The girls were cut off completely from the world for eight weeks, shooting wild animals, fishing and climbing high peaks. Their nearest neighbors were the county chain gang prisoners in Topanga canyon.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BY MARGARET MASON
(Written for the United Press)

"Is it a waste," the maiden said, "To buy a lovely waist of red, That's made of many yards of mull? Sure such a waist full can't be wasteful."

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The new fall blouses are rightly designated, for few and far between are the females who won't fall for them. Such exquisiteness is theirs as has never been before or behind, either, for they are much ornamented in the rear.

They are more bouffant for one thing, and require divers lengths of diaphanous material to complete their sheer entirety. Georgette crepe, chiffon and crepe de chine continue to be the favorite mediums. Fur, lace and metallic embroideries are the favored garnishments.

One unique model of white crepe de chine is absolutely plain in front, with a deep sailor collar of white silk plush in the back that is edged with a fringe of sassy little black and white ermine tails. The long sleeves are caught together at the cuff with a single tiny tail, and there you are—the tale of this blouse is ended.

A stunning blouse for an elderly woman (if there is any such thing) is of gray chiffon and black lace with a banding of skunk around the neck and down each side to the bust line. The sleeves which have a cap top of lace and full undersleeves of the chiffon are cuffed in the fur. The lace is set in the back to form a point from the shoulders to the waist line and in front extends from the shoulders straight down each side of the fur bands.

Combinations of materials and of two colors are distinctly smart. Of those that seek their contrasting color in fur, the white waists combined with skunk and the yellow with skunk are perhaps the loveliest.

Chiffon and velvet waists are also rich and effective. A Russian green velvet waist with sleeves and yoke of the same shade of chiffon has for sole adornment a chocek collar of bear, with a greenish gold metallic rose snuggling coyly on the left side.

A vivid striped velvet of gray, black and yellow has a high collar of astrakhan and the long flaring bell sleeves are deeply banded with the same.

The colored waists of Jersey silk promise but a dubious following for fall, although the fur trimmed sweaters of heavy wool or silk have been shaken off of the summer girl's fair shoulders, only to descend gracefully and fittingly upon those of Miss Autumn. They are sure to be decidedly smart, well up into November, for wear with tailor made skirts of serge, velvet, and even taffeta. For, yes, taffeta is to be a fall fabric this year, as well as a perennial spring one.

Quite the cleverest of the tailored coat suits are fashioned of this silk, and combined with fur to give them a bit more stability.

Although military styles and trench fashions are trying to retrench, they have suffered almost a total defeat in the autumn encounters.

With the exception of the prevalence of Russian coats, turbaned and full skirted, a la Cosack, and a gleaming gold tassel or so, a la Belgian officer, little or no militarism has been allowed to gain headway against the lines of the allied a la modes.

It certainly brooks much for fashionable peace that the awful onslaught of military helmets, turbans, Highland bonnets and Belgian caps has been stayed, and female headgear is once more staid again, also. That is, of course, as it is circumspect as feminine headgear could ever be. Really very little exaggeration is shown as yet in the fall hat models, and either the close fitting little round and tri-corn shapes of velvet are effected or the ultra large round floppy velvet shapes. A one color scheme has gripped the little hat and odd and bizarre shades have been evolved to meet the needs of a one-toned hat that will at the same time be sufficiently striking.

Royal purple, mahogany and a bright Prussian blue are a few of the colors used, and a variation on the over popular cerise is also offered. So vivid are some of the hues that it is going to be mighty hard for mere man to pass the hats this fall without adding blinders to his other recently acquired fashionable accessory—the wrist watch.

TAKE SALTS FOR THE KIDNEYS IF YOUR BACK HURTS

We Should Drink Lots of Water and Eat Less Meat, Says
Noted Authority on Kidney Disorders

Recommends a Spoonful of Iod Salts in Glass of Water Before Breakfast to Stimulate Kidneys and Eliminate the Uric Acid

Uric acid in meat causes the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Iod Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then not fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Iod Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent little-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Iod Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.
